

DETECTED SIMILARITY TYPES

01

REPRODUCTION

Taking someone else's work and saying it's their own work.

COPYING

Taking someone else's work and adding it to your own without permission.

02

03

COPY AND REPLACE

Using the text taken from another source with minor changes.

04

MOSAIC

Combining texts from more than one source and presenting them as new publications.

05

SELF - PLAGIARISM

Copying from his/her previous work without citing the source.

Plagiarism in academic studies is a crime under the law. Nobody wants to be the advisor, editor or publisher of this crime.

intihal.net

Originality is very important for an academic article, work or thesis.

Similarity test report for both Turkish and English with 1 Billion+ documents.

intihal.net

Plagiarism detection software not only check researchers but also encourages them to produce original works.

Within the scope of EKUAL, all universities can use intihal.net without any limitation on document type, number of documents and number of users.

intihal.net

intihal.net

intihal.net

Similarity detection report can be created in 3 steps with its easy-to-use interface.

Users can register with their institutional e-mail addresses. Users can confirm their account by clicking the button in the e-mail.

intihal.net

Thanks to the advanced interactive screens, the details of the quotation can be viewed by clicking on the document.

Similarity detection software for academics, researchers and students with the widest range of Turkish content.

intihal.net

intihal.net

Plagiarism is using someone else's publication by taking it against the rules and ethics. İntihal.net is an, internet-based similarity detection and reporting software specialized to detect many types of plagiarism. We test the originality of your documents in Turkey's largest digital scientific collection.